REBELS_PREPARING TO ATTACK BATON Rouge Again.—An intelligent young gentleman, who left Baton Rogue Sunday evening, informs us that the confederate army was stationed ten miles distant from that place, hourly expecting large reinforce ments. On becoming reinforced, it was their intention to renew the attack on Buton Rouge. The United States forces had called in all their pickets, and notified all non combatants to leave with such moveable property as they choose to take with them, as the gunboats would shell the city conflict .- N. O. National Advocate, 13th.

A SNEAK GETS HIS DESERTS .- We understand that a young man, for many years a resident of this city, seeking to evade the draft, resigned his position in one of the received daily. A great variety of New Music for railroad offices and went to Canada. His father, at whose instigation he left, after thinking the matter over, concluded it was best for him to return and resume his work. The managers of the road, hearing of the circumstances, yesterday, informed the gentlemen that he might as well let his son remain in Canada, as he could get no work on that road hereafter .- Toledo Blade.

To Destroy House Flits .- It is, perhaps, not generally known that black pepper (not red) is a poison for many insects. The following simple mixture is said to be the best destroyer of the common house fly extant: Take equal portions of black pepper (fresh ground) and sugar, say enough of each to cover a ten-cent piece; moisten and mix well with a spoonful of milk (a little cream is better); keep that in your room and you will keep down the flies. One advantage over other poisons is, that it injures nothing else; and another, IN addition to our large stock, we have just received that the flies seek the air and never die in the house-the windows being open.

Two of our citizens were out shooting chickens a few days since, and accidentally one got in range of the other while aiming at a bird, and gave the gentleman a peppering. The man who fired the gun came up with bird in hand, trying to console his friend, remarking " it's too had Jim, I know it hurts, but I got the bird!"—Fond du Lac

An Eritarit .- The poetical genius who presides over the Home League has perpetrated an epitaph on the rebel ram Arkansas. Here it is:

Hero lies the rebel ram, In Mississipai's calm, Like an cyster or a clam; She was a perfect sham, And her mutton, horns, and ham, Are scarcely worth a dama, To our Uncle Sam, Or to "suy other man,"

REBELS PREPARING TO ATTACK BATON ROUGE AGAIN.—An intelligent young gen-tleman, who left Baton Rogue Sunday eve-ning, informs us that the confederate army was stationed ten miles distant from that place, hourly expecting large reinforce ments. On becoming reinforced, it was their intention to renew the attack on Baton Rouge. The United States forces had called in all their pickets, and notified all non combatants to leave with such moveable property as they choose to take with them, as the gunboats would shell the city the moment the confederates renewed the conflict.—N. O. National Advocate, 13th.

A SNEAK GETS HIS DESERTS .- We under stand that a young man, for many years a resident of this city, seeking to evade the draft, resigned his position in one of the railroad offices and went to Canada. His father, at whose instigation he left, after thinking the matter over, concluded it was best for him to return and resume his work. The managers of the road, hearing of the circumstances, yesterday, informed the gentlemen that he might as well let his son re-main in Canada, as he could get no work on that road hereafter .- Toledo Blude.

To DESTROY HOUSE FLIES .- It is, perhaps, not generally known that black pepper (not red) is a poison for many insects. The following simple mixture is said to be the best destroyer of the common house fly extant: Take equal portions of black pepper (fresh ground) and sugar, say enough of each to cover a ten-cent piece moisten and mix well with a spoonful o CHEAPER THAN EVER. milk (a little cream is better); keep that in your room and you will keep down the dies. One advantage over other poisons is, that it injures nothing else; and another, that the flies seek the air and never die iu the house-the windows being open. Two of our citizens were out shooting chickens a few days since, and accidentally one got in range of the other while aiming at a bird, and gave the gentleman a peppering. The man who fired the gun came up with bird in hand, trying to console his friend, remarking "it's too had Jim, I know it hurts, but I got the bird "-Fond du Lac Reporter.

An EPITAPH .- The poetical genius who presides over the Home League has perpetrated an epitaph on the rebel ram Arkansas. Here it is :

Here lies the rebel ram, In Mississip: I's caim, Like an oyster or a clam; She was a perfect sham, And her mutten, horns, and ham, Are scarcely worth a dame, To our Uncle Sam. Or to "any other man."

The Alexandria correspondent of the Tribung states that on Tuesday night the pickets at Manassas Junction were driven io, and two companies of the 105th Pennsylvania infantry, one company of Pennsylvania cavalry; and some artillery, stationed there, were surprised and attacked by Gen. At Union Mills two regiments of Cox's dixision, the 11th and 12th Ohio, under Col. Scammon, were stationed, and they immediately advanced to meet the approaching body of rebels. A conflict ensued in the early morning between the Junction and Ball Run, lasting for three hours, when the Union troops being largeretired across Bull Run bridge. to retreat, moving in the direction of Alexandria. The rebels advanced across Bull Run, and yesterday afternoon their advance cavalry were at Fairfax and Burke's Stations. On taking possession of Manassas Junction the rebels captured seven trains loaded with provisions, ammunition, &c., ten locomotives, all of which they destroyed. Of the 84 men of the 105th Pennsylvania on the ground, nearly all were killed, wounded or taken prisoners, as only three are known to have escaped. Boston, Aug. 28. The meeting to night to hear Gen. Fremout was one of the greatest demonstra tions ever known in this city. When he appeared, the waving of hats and handkerchiefs, and cheering, were long continued. Gen. He said that among our rights and daties was the right of the people to debate the character of all the vital institutions. Republican institutions are at stake, not only in this country but throughout the world, and it is the duty of every man to exercise his opinion for himself. Six years ago, in Congress, in common with his hearers, he held the opinion that slavery should not be extended beyond its existing limits in Missouri. A year ago he declared the slaves of existing rebels free. This was done because it was believed to be the most decisive and deadly blow at mode of obtaining the advantage at the lightest cost. This was the legitimate exercise of pro-consular power. Later, be became satisfied that with our success must terminate slavery in some form, and it was sufficient to adopt some measures by which it must cease as a political power and as a social fact. The events of the war showed there could be no lasting peace while slavery exists on this continent. Therefore, all considerations apart, and solely with a view to suppress the rebellion, he was in favor of the abolition of slavery. Abolition should be effected so as to deprive the onemy of his great means of resistance. It is not proper to state here what our means of deionse are, or how well prepared we are to march on to Chattanooga. I may say, however, in passing, that if General Halleck had not committed the blunderso nalpable and great as to be a crime-of allowing the enemy to evacuate Corinth, the sky would have been brighter over our heads to day, and the clouds that now hang around Richmond and Chattanooga, would never have gathered. Besides, let me add what every suldier in the army feels to be true, that if General Buell had been as intent upon putting down rebellion as he has been in conciliating rebels, we should have been occupying strong positions far to the east of us, when we could have prevented supplies from going to the confederate army

Alas, we are not in Chattanooga but the rebels are. We do not occupy those important gateways leading to the supply fields of Tennessee and Kentucky, but the rebels do. We hear, to be sure, that government intends to adopt a stern, warlike, aggressive policy, but it is not seen in any order issuing from the headquarters of the army of Ohio. We read the confiscation act: and find that it provides, under certain circumstances, for weakening the power of rebels by making their slaves free, but no order comes to enforce the law.

To be sure, contrabands come into our lines, some by their own choice, and some under orders of our officers, and work on our fartifications, but in the absence of any orders calculated to secure protection and freedom to those who, by the plain terms of the confiscation act and orders from the war department, are entitled thereto. When the work is done upon which they are engaged, they are sent back to their claimants' plantations, many of whom are in the confederate army.

We wait for a policy, for orders coming from the proper authority to carry out the intention of the confiscation act. How long shall we wait?

Gen. Fremont for Emancipation.

At a meeting in Boston, yesterday, Gen. Fremont made a speech in which he recommends the entire abolition of slavery as a war measure. He would emancipate all than by the middle of September, and has the slaves, so that the flag of the republic shall float only over freemen. The time has come when we must use the slaves of loyal men as well as rebels to accomplish the overthrow of the rebellion, and that there may be no obstacle left after the war to a complete and final peace. The nation fitly spoken at a proper time. We must must strike the shackles from every slave, to come out from the house of bondage and totion take exactly opposite ground. They of our tate is upon us. We are glad that Gen. Fremont has spoken boldly and wisely. Let us use the element of slavery against the rebels as a legitimate means of this, why shall we not have unity of purpose? Have we not yet sacrificed enough in life, and suffering, and treasure, to be as well united in a good cause as the south is in a bad one?

Rebei Hypocrisy.

J. ff. Davis and his merciful crew are in a full blast of denunciation of the recent orders of Gen. Pope, and inflicting barbarous punishment on all the officers of his command who fall into their hands. To show the hypocriey of their professions, and tie manner in which they have treated those obnoxious to them, read the following o deg in relation to the Union men of East Tennessee, issued nearly a year ago, and which has been rigidly executed:

"Richnorn, Normalier 25, 1801.]
"Sir: Your report of the 20.0 instant is received, and I now proceed to give you the desired instructions in relation to the prisoners taken by you among the traitors of East Tennessee.

"First. All such as can be identified in having been engaged in bridge burning are to be :ried summarily by drum head courtmartial, and, if found guilty, executed on the spot by hanging. It would be well to leave their bodies hanging in the vicinity of the burnt bridges.

"Second. All such as have not been so engaged are to be treated as prisoners of war, and sent with an armed guard to Tus calcosa, Alabama, there to be kept imprisoned at the depot selected by the government for prisoners of war,
"Whenever you can discover that arms are concentrated by these traitors, you will send out detachments, search for and seize the arms. In no case 's one of the men known to have been up in arms against the government to be released on any piedge or The passengers of the Northern Light oath of allegiance. The time for such bring down the intelligence that several measures is past. They are to be held as hundred of the Sioux Indians are cucamped prisoners of war, and held in jail till the end of the war. Such as come in voluntarily, take the outh of allegiance, and surrender their arms, are alone to be treated with "Your vigilant execution of these orders is earnestly arged by the government. "Your obedient servant

"J. P. BENJAMIN,
"Sec'y of War.
"Col. W. B. Wood, Knoxville, Tenu. "P. S.—Judge Patterson, Col. Pickens, and other ringleaders of the same class, must be sent at once to Tuscaloose to jail as prisoners of war."

On the 23d of April last, Col. Wm. M. Churchweil, provost marshal of Knoxville, issued an order that all refugees who fail for an empty larder? A fill et.

to return to their homes and accept the amnesty offered on condition of "laying down their arms and acting as loyal citizens," shall " have their wives and children sent to their care in Kentucky, or beyond the confederate state lines at their own expense." It is added that the families of all who leave after the dete of that proclamation "will be sent immediately after them. The women and children must be taken care of by husbands and fathers, either in East Tennessee or in the Lincoln government."

If there is any "retaliation" justifiable rebels and not from the Union army.

Startling News.

It appears that from seven to ten thonand rebels, under Gen. Stuart, got through Gen. Pope's lines somewhere on Tuesday, and proceeded to Manassas Junction, destroyed an immense amount of government property, tore up the railroad, burned a Washington, defeating a couple of regments of Ohio troops at Ball Run. Provisions for our army may soon become scarce in consequence of this dash of the of a mime ball through my hip, when, unenemy. These rebel raids in the rear of our army are not an encouraging feature of the war, as we learned by experience on the gard to past political differences who, in this hour of Chickshominy. It was declared a few days oners; the rest escaped to the regiment ago that "the crisis is past and Washing-

Last Night's News.

A battle between Buell and Bragg near Chattanooga is looked for shortly. The rebels intend to attack Gen. Morgan at Cumberland Gap first, and Buell afterwards. They are reported to have 100,000 men. The rebel Morgan is marching on Bowling Green, and there is no communication between Louisville and Nashville. General Schofield has assumed the secesh of St. Louis for $500,000, to be used in clothing and arming the militia. The Indians are committing depredations on the Iowa line, west of Fort Dodge, and Emmet and Dickinson counties are said to be in danger. Orestes A. Brownson made a speech at Willard's Hotel in Washington, declaring the same fate might soon be his. One had from 35 to 40 men. that slavery is the main support of the foes of the Union, and therefore he said "down with slavery. Let every slave go free, but let the Union be saved." He further said, "this is no time for conservatives-men who had no eyes save in the backs of their "a heads." "Timid measures are treason now."

A MISTAKE CUBRECTED .- The Madison Journal of pesterday says-" A paragraph in yesterday's paper represented Gov. Sal omon as seeking to postpone the draft to enable the state to fill up its quota by volunteers. This was a misapprehension. The governor has not asked the War Department to postpone the draft, but has repeatedly called the attention of the department to the fact that it will be impossible to make arrangements for the draft carlier urged it to accept volunteers up to that time, expressing his belief that if such permission is given we sha'l be able to furnish our quota by colistments."

The Two Views.

The New York Times, in referring to will hail this announcement as the truth the position of Mr. Greeley and a multitude of others that slavery is subordinate wait no longer for something to turn up to to the preservation of the Union, and save slavery. Now is the hour when we should be crushed as the readiest means of pondent is among the latter number, and suppressing the rebellion, says:

and us in saving the government. It is a would not abolish slavery even to preserve time for all men to speak out, for the crisis took this ground distinctly in a speech at Quincy, the other day. He declared that he 'would not vote for emancipation, coen if he knew that emancipation would end the war.' The democratic meeting held on Saturday, in Philadelphia, takes the same defeating their vile purposes; and in doing ground, and proposes to overthrow the administration upon it. This makes slavery paramount to the constitution, and its pres ervation paramount to the preservation of

When the question is the preservation of the government and the Union, or the perpetuation of slavery, what good citizen or true patriot can besitate in his decision?

OVERTOR HOSPITAL, Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 16th. A hospital cot is an excellent place for meditation, and it has occurred to me that, ber has died in one day. This is a new by way of novelty, a communication from , with an account of the fate of war that brought me here, might while away a few tedious moments for writer and reader. A day or two after the date of my comnunication from Madison, Ark., the battalhon to which I was attached marched on ten miles, and encamped for the night at Langville ferry, some thirty miles from Helena, and we lay down to rest on our grassy couches with no more apprehensions of attack than we had felt at all times in in the case, the provocation came from the the enemy's country. At daylight on Sunday, August 3d, we were awakened by the ery, "The secesh are coming!" and springing up and grasping our arms, we found five or six bundred mounted Texan rangers right upon our detachment of one hundred and thirty men, and the balls whist-ling thick around us. Having no time to mount or rally, each man looked out for for himself. Some took to the woods at once; the rest kept up a scattered firing large number of cars and locomotives, and down, or gradually retreated. I was so in the service. It is expected that the quothen advanced to within fourteen miles of much interested in trying my skill as a ta of each county and subdivision can be marksman as to forget the sensible couplet. He who fights and runs away, May live to fight another day, but was presently reminded by the tearing luckily, it was too late. Well, the attack was completely success

They killed lo of our brave boys, fal. wounded some 40, and took a number pris which was encamped eight miles below. Pury also took a great number of horses and mules, and burned what wagons they were obliged to leave.

We killed nearly an equal number of rebels, and wounded some others.

Then we unfortunates found ourselves alone with the horrors of the battle-field. The wounded, who could, crawled together for companionship; a few fugitives returned who could minister to us. We lay on the ground, under a burning southern son, covered with blood, tortured with pain, consumed with agonizing thirst. Not far off lay our noble and much loved chaplain, shot through the head, dead; and scattered around were other liteless bodies of our comrades. Near me lay a man shot through the chest, the ball just visible ander the skin; not far off one with his shoulder blown away; two or three shot brough the bowels-one of them died close to my side after we got on the boat. And so the living lay by the dead, knowing that received a ball in the mouth and swallowed it; another had nine bullets in his head and body; and so on through every variety of wounds imaginable. And the agonizing cries of the suffering, and the calls for 'water! water!" were the music of the

Many of the wagons which were burning around us contained loaded guns, shells, and other ammunition, and as the frequent explosions took place, we were in imminent fear of new wounds, but, fortunately, escaped unbarmed. Numbers of horse mules were wounded, and their sufferings were painful to behold. My own pet pony, which was shot in the leg, came 'Dixie,' and laid down beside me, seemingly expressing its brute sympathy, and asking

We lay on the ground all day and night, receiving many kind attentions from the citizens near by, and from our own men who had come from our camp below. In the morning we were put into open wagons without springs and carried eight miles. Our clothes were stiff and clotted with blood; the heat was intense; the worms had bred in and all about our wounds, and every jar over the rough roads felt like the stab of a saber. I was scarcely alive when we reached the St. Francis, and was put on board a steamboat. We finally reached this place Thursday, the fifth day after the battle, and are now receiving kind and skillful treatment in an excellent hospital. All of us who reached here will undoubtedly recover, though several will be discharged from the service of the dear old flag. Your corresyou may expect before many weeks to see him hobbling about the streets of the well-

Lient. Porter, who is well known to your reasers, was sent with 29 men back to Bioomfield, a few days before the battle. One of his men has returned, and reports that the Lieutenant, with his party, were taken prisoners by the rebels. He will probably he paroled before long, and reach ome safely; so we certainly hope, at least. Our regiment has received a severe shock n this affair, from which it will not soon recover. The whole responsibility rests on the madness and disobedience of orders of an officer-whom, I will not say; time will K. R. H.

Chattels that Talk.

The negroes are ever ready to give us all the information they can in regard to the designs of the enemy; and by heeding it, this army have suffered less than any other in the field. If a rebel strategem is planned, some trusty negro gets into our camp with their designs, and their nicely laid schemes are a failure. On our march, two cavalry men straying from their commands, were nabbed by guerillas. Dilligent inquiries were made as to who their captors were, and of their fate. Nothing could exceed the utter astonishment and ignorance of the whites in regard to the matter. One was willing to purjure himself by taking an oath that he knew nothing at all about it. But when his slaves were questioned, they knew all about the affair, and their master was one of the most active participants in the transaction. Thus from a hundred sources, and in a hundred different ways are we apprised of the ecemy's designs. Plantation life is not very refining to the slave, and one is ofted forced to laugh at their droll expressions. They are scarcely ever in error except in regard to numbers. Their judg-nent is poor in this respect. Full accounts of the unfortunate affair at the crossing of Languelle, in which a detachment of 100 of the 1st Wisconsin cav alry were surprised and almost entirely out to pieces, have audoubtedly been spread before your readers. From the reports of the officers concerned, and who made their escape, one would suppose that none was to blame but Col. Daniels. The division of his regiment into small parties on a long march through an intensely hostile region, was certainly an unpardonable blunder, but not more so than for the officers in charge to neglect the timety warning given of the nearness of the Texans. It has come to ight that several negroes informed them of the enemy's approach and designs. The evening previous to the attack a citizen came into cump inquiring for lost mules, and was shown all over it, and finding none of his, was permitted to go away again. A negro told our men that he knew the mule hunter-that he lived forty miles away, and was a most intensely violent secesh, that his business there was to cor out their position and numbers. His information and suggestions were unheeded. You know the rest. They went to cleep in fancied seearity, from which many never awoke, only in the other world. The mule hunter was foremest in the attack. Thank God, we

MORNING DISPATCHES. HARRISBURGH, Aug 27. Gov. Curtis confidently expects to allow each town a reasonable time to furnish its quota in volunteers, avoiding a draft entire-5. As soon as the enrollment is comleted, the quota of each town and township will be ascertained, together with the from behind trees until they were shot credit list that each are entitled to for men ascertained by the 15th of September.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29. The Alexandria correspondent of the Trib-une states that on Tuesday night the pickets at Manassas Junction were driven in, and two companies of the 195th Pennsylvania infantry, one company of Penusylvania cavalry, and some artillery, stationed there, were surprised and attacked by Gen. Ewell's division, numbering from 7,000 to 10,000 intuntry and cavelry.

After a short skirmish the haudful of men at the Junction fled, the rebels turning upon them nine of our guns, and keeping up a brisk fire till the Union troops were taken prisoners, a few escaping across At Union Mills two regiments of Cox's dixision, the 11th and 12th Ohio, under Col. Scammon, were stationed, and they immediately advanced to meet the apsued in the early morning between the Junction and Bull Run, lasting for three hours, when the Union troops being largely out-numbered and flanked on the right, retired across Bull Run bridge. There a vigorous attempt was made by Col. Scammon to hold the bridge. At 11 o'clock two rebel regiments forded the Run above the bridge, when the 12th Onio charged on them and drove them across the river with heavy loss. In this skirmian Capt. G. W. Heanly was wounded slightly. The regi ment lost in killed, wounded and missing

At 12 o'clock, Col. Scammon was obliged to retreat, moving in the direction of Alexandria. The rebels advanced across Bull Run, and yesterday afternoon their advance cavalry were at Pairiax and Burke's Stations. On taking possession of Manassas Junction the rebels captured seven trains, loaded with provisions, ammunition, &c., ten locomotives, all of which they destroyed. Of the 84 men of the 105th Pennsylvania on the ground, nearly all were killed wounded or taken prisoners, as only three are known to have escaped. Our loss has been immense in government stores, and large in killed, wounded and missing. The telegraphic communication with Gen

ville says that firing was heard early this morning beyond Manassas, and it is believ ed that Gen. Pope had attacked Gen. Ewell in the rear.

The Washington correspondent states hat the first New Jersey brigade, General Kearney, are reported to have engaged the enemy near Bull Run bridge, where a desperate struggle was maintained. The bridge s still said to be in our possession. The lighting also was carried on with portions of the division of Gen. Sturgis, and nine pieces of artillery are said to have been captured by Theodore Everts. As this goes to mail I learn that telegraphic communication is again opened with Gen. Pope. Manassas, therefore, must be clear of the rebels, and Gen. Stuart, if not taken, is probably wending his way through the Blue Ridge to join the main body of his army. Other correspondents of different papers give similar statements. Nothing can be learned at the war depart-

The meeting to night to hear Gen. Fremont was one of the greatest demonstrations ever known in this city. When he appeared, the waving of hats and handkerchiefs, and cheering, were long continued. Gen. Fremout referred to the importance of rigorous measures for recruiting, regretted the difference of opinion which caused any lack of unity among the people, and cx-pressed confidence that Massachusetts, true to her past bistory in rocking the cradle of liberty, will not fail in all her efforts to destroy the hydra headed monster, rebellion. He said that among our rights and duties was the right of the people to debate the character of all the vital institutions. Republican institutions are at stake, not only in this country but throughout the world and it is the duty of every man to exercise bis opinion for himself. Six years ago, in Congress, in common with his hearers, held the opinion that slavery should not be extended beyond its existing limits in Missouri. A year ago he declared the slaves

This was done because it was believed to be the most decisive and deadly blow at the heart of the rebellion, and the quickest mode of obtaining the advantage at the lightest cost. This was the legitimate exercise of pro-consular power. Later, he became satisfied that with our success must terminate slavery in some form, and it was sufficient to adopt some measures by which it must cease as a political power and as a social fact. The events of the war showed there could be no lasting peace while slavery exists on this continent. Therefore, all considerations apart, and solely with view to suppress the rebellion, he was in favor of the abolition of slavery. Abolition should be effected so as to deprive the enemy of his great means of resistance. Wherever the flag of the country waves let it float over free men, and loyalty to it should be an answer to all questions, and all the passport to be required. It was qualities of head and heart, by his energy sometimes urged that liberty to the slaves south.

How could war be carried on without requiring sacrifices? Undoubtedly those who prove loyal will be paid for their losses. The Unionists of the north had made sacrifices in giving their lives, and those whom they most held dear, such losses could never thy south would be ready to make sacrifices. It was his belief, however, that there were not so many Unionists as had been supposee, and the number is decreasing with the dangers of their position, and the uncertainty of the success of the government had produced this unanimity. In the whole valley of Virginia there was not a Union man, and he was certain not a Union wonorthern people did not realize how long and says his name is the southern people have been preparing for disquion. They were united and deterbave a general who will not neglect precau- mined in their rebellion, and to meet them with money for expenses, and under escort tions for safety simply because they come successfully every advantage must be em-impossibility, and that can only be by unity | nation may not touch. among ourselves. To secure this we must arouse ourselves to extraordinary efforts, and by watching the enemy in our midst.

While the people are engaged in their local duties to sustain the government, a proslavery party is stealthily organizing for victory, of which they already feel assured. There must be individual labor to secure that unity, and the soldiers on the battlefield must be sustained by laborers at home Concessions could be made and advantages given up if for the present generation alone, but it was for a long line of generations that we are to fight these battles, and we are to accept the time with all its onligations. The fight is for the future safety of the country.

STEVENSON, Ala., August 18. From a source entitled to entire confidence, I learn that the rebel forces now lyscattered from Battle Creek to Chattanooga, number not less than fifty thousand men. They have, in addition, a good supply of artillery, mounted and posted in commending positious all along the way, so favorable to them naturally as to make the route " a hard road to travel" for the Union army, even with a force greatly superior in num-

I learn, also, that their forces are under the command of the rebel Bragg, and that be proposes to attack us at Battle Creek, by putting a large force in our rear, and advancing on our front lines, while at the same time their artillery is brought to bear upon us from the opposite side of the river. And this attack is not to be long deferred; indeed, it may occur almost any day.

It is not proper to state bern what our means of detense are, or how well prepared we are to march on to Chattanooga. say, however, in passing, that if General Halleck had not committed the blunderso palpable and great as to be a crime-of allowing the enemy to avacuate Corinth, the sky would have been brighter over our heads to day, and the clouds that now haug around Richmond and Chattanoogs, would never have gathered. Besides, let me add what every soldier in the army feels to be true, that if General Buell bad been as intent upon putting down rebellion as he has been in conciliating rebels, we should have been occupying strong positions far to the east of us, when we could have prevented any raid upon Kentucky by confederate troops, and where we could have prevented supplies from going to the confederate army in Virginia.

Alas, we are not in Chattanooga but the rebels are. We do not occupy those im portant gateways leading to the supply fields of Tennessee and Kentucky, but the rebels do. We hear, to be sure, that government intends to adopt a stern, warlike. aggressive policy, but it is not seen in any order issuing from the headquarters of the army of Ohio. We read the confiscation act; and find that it provides, under certain circumstances, for weakening the power of rebels by making their slaves free, but no order comes to enforce the law. To be sure, contrabands come into our lines, some by their own choice, and some under orders of our officers, and work on our fortifications, but in the absence of any orders calculated to secure protection and freedom to those who, by the plain terms of the confiscation act and orders from the war department, are entitled thereto. When the work is done upon which they are engaged, they are sent back to their claimants' plantations, many of whom are in the confederate army.

We wait for a policy, for orders coming from the proper authority to carry out the intention of the confiscation act. How long shall we wait?

A WHITE SLAVE. A few days ago Col. D. A. Straight, (who a, by-the by, one of the men who, by his of character and great executive ability would be an injustice to the loyalists of the entitled to at least one star on each should der,) brought to our notice a man who has been all his life a slave, now sixty-three years of age, and yet is entirely white. A number of officers who were present made a critical examination of his person, and were convinced that his claim to being a white man was well founded. His features be repaid; so he believed the Unionists of complexion, eyes, hair, mouth, nose, and phrenological development, all combine in making him entirely white. His own idea is that he was either a child of misfortune or of poverty, and was turned into the negro quarters and left to grow up as a slave, and this he argues from the fact that he has known several similar cases in his life, His appearance and behavior impresses one with the belief that he is a faithful and man. With them it was now only a quest worthy man. He cannot read a word, has tion as to the manner of segaration. Good REASONS .- It is said that Major Thomas Allen has decided not to take the Lieut. Colonelcy offered him in the 23d regiment. His principal reasons are the love he bears to his own regiment, the amount of red tape necessary to secure the anchor to day in the roads, abreast of the transfer, and the prospect of a fight in Virginia.

Dran Sir.—The great difficulty experienced in grouning Brandy sofficiently purpose for medicinal purposes, mas induced many of the physicians of this vicinity to adopt Bourbon Whisky as a su stitute, both in the hospitals and private practice; and, since the latter has come into such general use, we have reason to believe that a great deal now sold is of very inferior quality. which is a beautifully illustrated Pictorial Paper. It will be sent Gratis We have made the above Reduction in Prices with the two-fold view of benefitting the public and ourselves. The public have been swindled by spurious machines made in imitation of ours. The metal in them, from the iron casting to the smallest piece, isof poor quality. Their makers have not the means to do their work well. They are hid away in secret places, where it would be impossible to have at their command the proper mechanical appliances. It is only by doing a great business, and having extensive manufacturing establishments, that good machines can be made at moderate prices. The best designed machines, Bally Made, are always liable to get out of order, and are sure to cost considerable trouble and money to keep them in repair. The qualities to be looked for in a machine are: certainty of correct action at all rates of speed, simplicity of construction, great durability and rapidity of operation, with the least labor. Machines to combine these essential qualities, must be made of the best machaland, finished to perfection. We have the ways and means, on a grand scale, to do this.

The purchasers of machines, whose duily bread it may concern, will find that those having the above qualities not only work well at rapid as well as sicurates of speed, but last long in the finast possible working order. Our machines, as made by us, will carm wore money with less labor than any others, whether infinitation of ours on not. In fact, they are chesper than any other machine as a gift.
